

INTRODUCTION

K2ROOM and STOREX have expertise in controlled atmosphere technology for the past 20 years and has sites worldwide. The expertise involves creating seamless gastight environments of any size and controlling ambient air gases with accuracy and precision using industrial caliber equipment manufactured by STOREX. The web-enabled software controls are owned by STOREX and offer convenience to users for accessing and controlling the space in question for various environmental conditions. The combination of features and technology offered by K2ROOM is unique, and the level of technical expertise offered by STOREX technicians makes K2ROOM a great choice for hypoxic / environmental rooms or building projects.